How strange Time is . . . .
Time has really changed, and lo,
it has changed us too.
It walked one step forward,
unveiled its face,
alarmed us and then elated us.
Yesterday we complained about Time and trembled at its terrors.
But today we have learned to love it . . .

HOMECOMING IS SPECIAL

Mike Avery looks on as Queen Mary DuRussel crowns her successor Michele Trudeau.

Mary helps Michele adjust her cape.

Question: What combines the beauty of a coronation, the spirit of a pep assembly, the thrill of a football game, and the excitement of frenzied preparations into one event? Answer: Homecoming.

During this special week some happy memories were formed: Michele Truedeau was crowned queen, the seniors won their fourth spirit award, classmates became very closeknit, and almost everyone shared the experience of giving.

We may forget many events of our high school days, but we will always remember Homecoming–and smile.

The seniors produced this winning float.

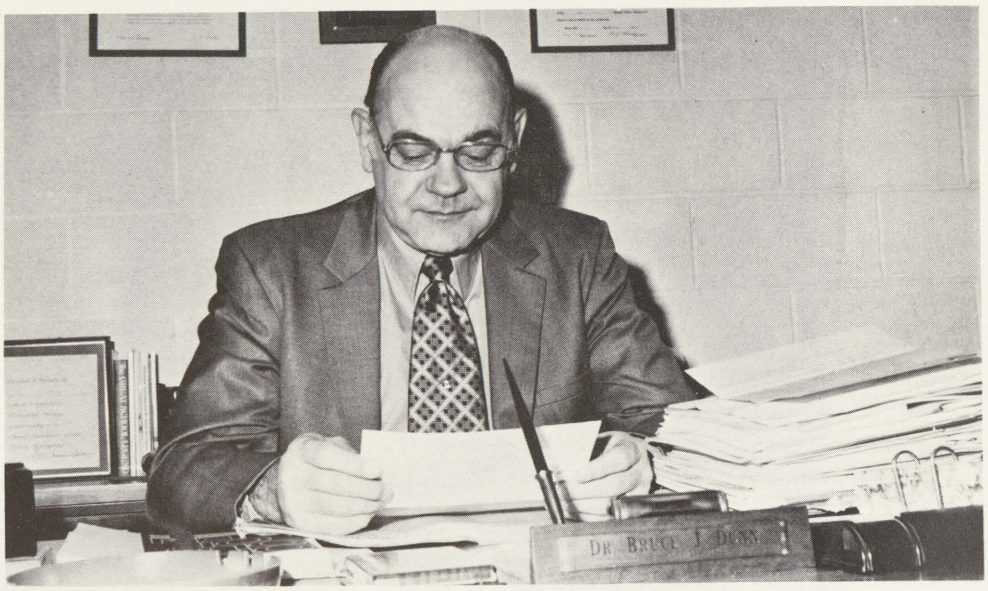
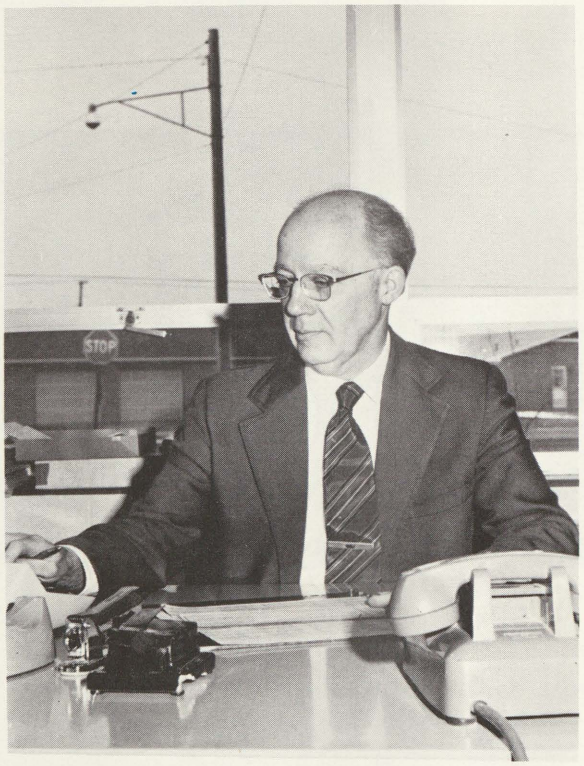
Administration

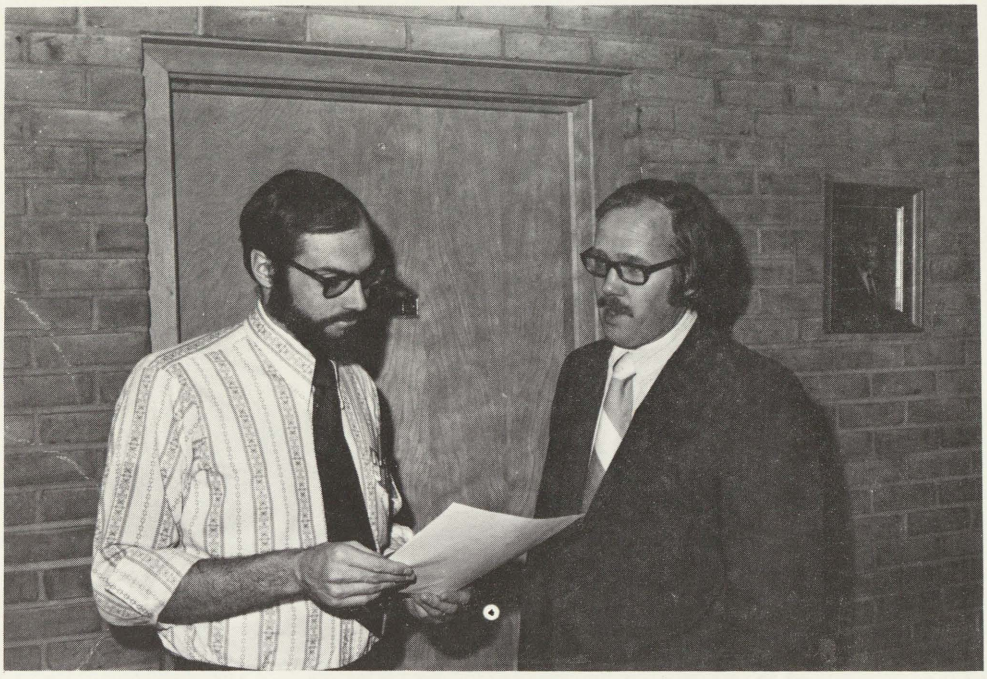


Dr. Dunn, Superintendent of Schools

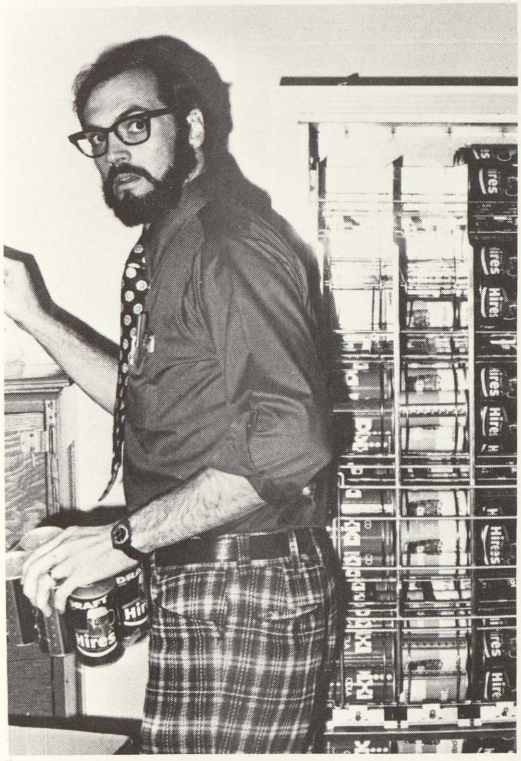
Mr. Radina pays heed to her own advice and smiles.



Mr. Barcolow works diligently on preparing the weekly payroll for school district teachers.



Mr. Gugino discusses the new bell system for Friday with Mr. Van Dyk.



Ok, what did you guys do now?

Mrs. Bloom and Mrs. Stockenauer are always busy with office work, daily bulletins, and tardy people.

The Reese Board of Education meets periodically to make decisions covering school policies.

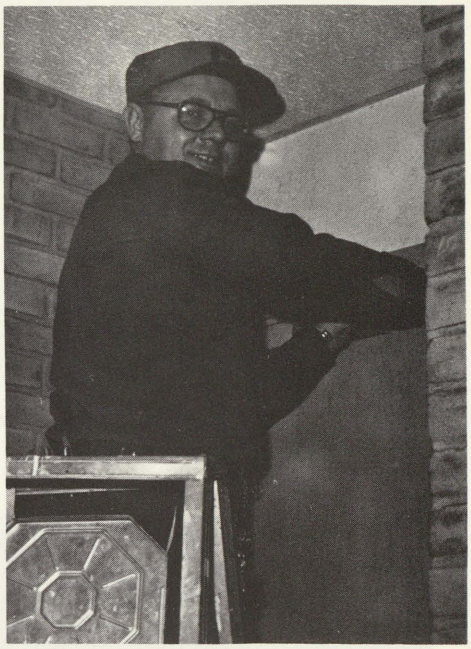
Necessary Tasks Fall On Capable Hands

The board, cooks, janitors, and bus drivers are the people who are not always thanked for the jobs they perform for us. We would like to take the time now to tell them how much we appreciate their hard work and long hours that are spent for our benefit. To the people we could not do without we say "thank you."

Mrs. Spiekerman, Mrs. Marx, Mrs. Marx, Mrs. Rupprecht, Mrs. Liebknecht, and Mrs. Sylvester are the women that supply us with a daily meal.

"Just try to cut in the lunch line, you'll never get past me," says Mrs. Marx.

Kurt Liebnecht, Mr. Laking, Shirley Courbier, Mrs. Kaul, and Mr. Zissler help to keep the school in a neat and orderly manner.



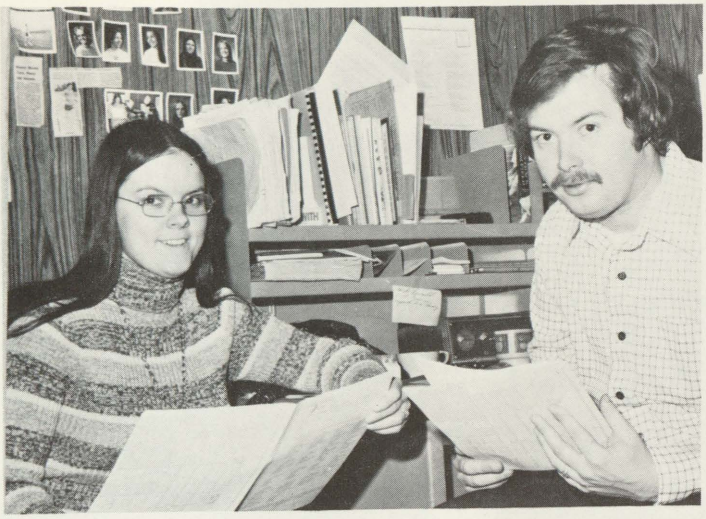
Mr. Schian fixes a warped door in the high school library.

Making daily bus routes both morning and afternoons are Duane Hogan, Mr. Ellison, Mrs. Trombley, Ann Fleischman, Mrs. Trombley, Mrs. Francis, Mrs. Draher, Mrs. Burkel, Mrs. Hausbeck, and Mrs. Hicks.

Special People Do Special Jobs

Special services require people with special talents. Such the counselors and the Special Education teacher. The counse help many students decide problems that they couldn't handl themselves. The Special Education teacher helps exceptional s dents learn to the best of their abilities.

Without the help of these special people many students couldn't cope with the daily school schedule.



Mr. Jordan is in discussion with the new addition to the counseling staff, Mrs. VanAllen.

What story are you telling the ladies this time, Mr. Davis.

Above: You will often see Mrs. Sink hurryi from one counselor's office to the other but here she is busy at work behind her desk. Bel The teachers came through this year with the own float!

Miss Zellar, Special Ed teacher, prepares her lessons for a day of classes.

Teachers Broaden Students' Views

Learning how to deal with life and how the world is run is the responsibility of these teachers. Each day they try to enlighten us about the world and the handling of life's problems. They put in much extra time, such as heading Model U.N. and supervising trips to Lansing or to Michigan State to enrich the overall Social Science Department.

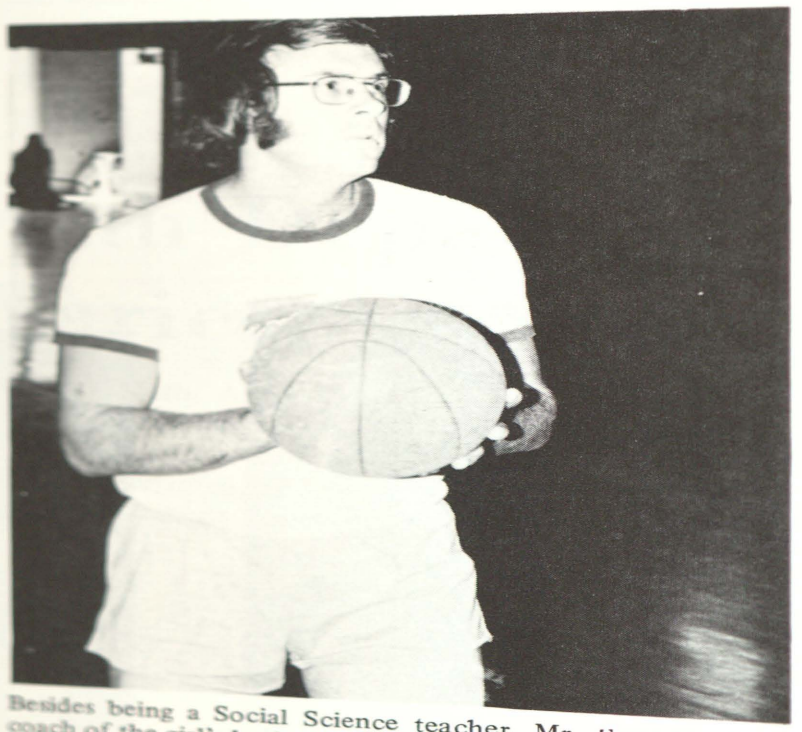
Below: Miss Mc Pike and Mr. Smith teach the same classes, you often see them conferring notes.



Besides being a Social Science teacher, Mr. Sage is also coach of the girl's basketball team.

Fine Arts, Library, Add Dimensions

As the year elapsed, the band, art and library department contributed more to the students each day. The band performed at all the home games with fine pre-game and half-performances.

Besides the annual winter concert the band performed at various schools in the state including a reading session at M.S.U.

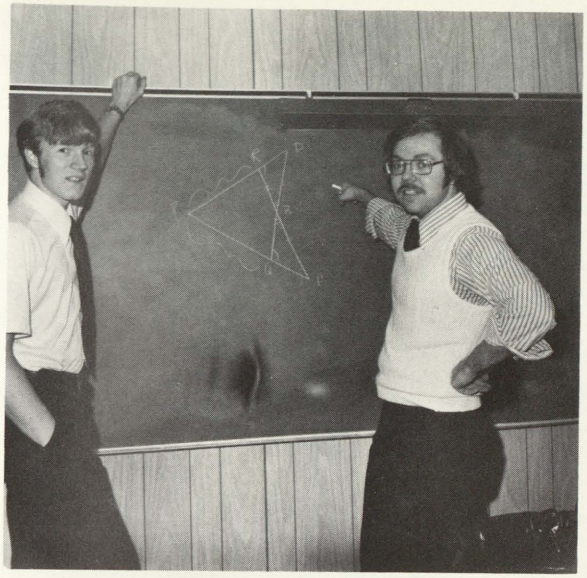
As in other years, the Art department has a display of student work in the show-case. This year the room has many new additions on the walls.

The Library has broadened its field with new and better paper back books. The Library is at the disposal of the student body any hour of the school day.

Mrs. Gobble is shown going through a magazine for ma terial for the veritcal files.

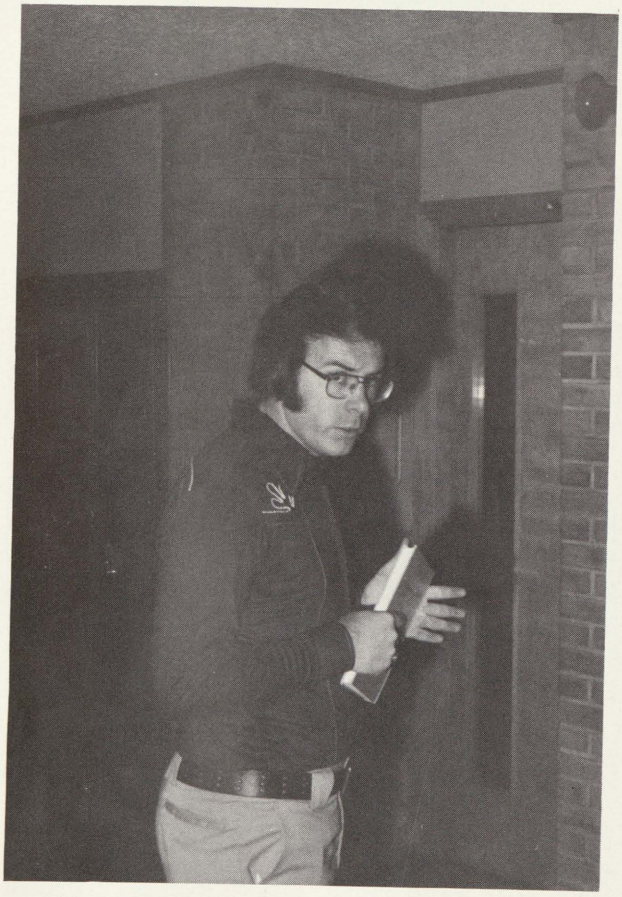
Mrs. Montei is showing her school spirit by wearing a Reese Homecoming pin.

Miss Smith and Mr. Cheney have quite a bit to talk about since their departments coincide with each other.



Mr. Wier asks Mr. Halls' help on a difficult Geometry problem.

Mr. Marx and Mrs. Shepherd look through an equipment catalogue for additional Math equipment.



Oh no you don't!

Math Department Varies Approach

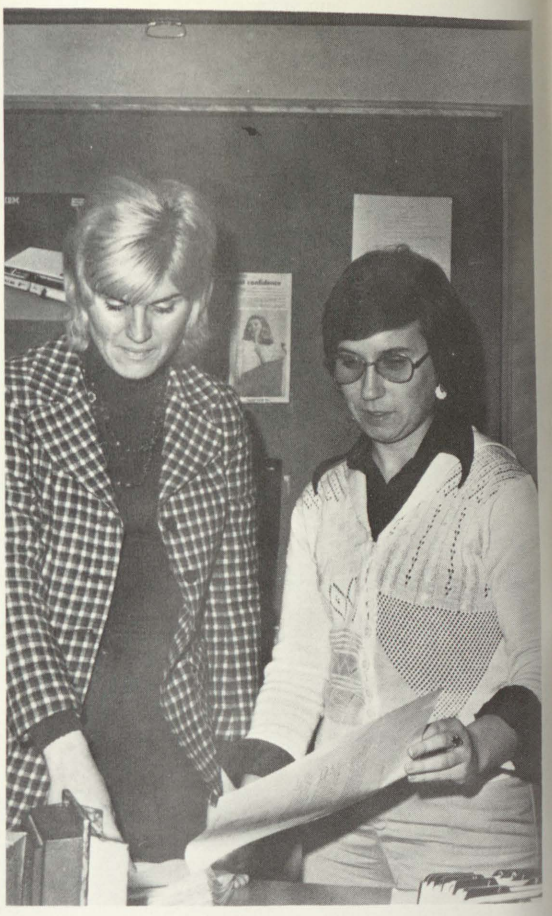
General Math, Algebra I, Geometry, Algebra II, and Advanced Math are the options open to students choosing solid backgrounds in Mathematics at Reese High School.

A staff of very capable instructors was willing to work at any time with students having difficulty in their classes.

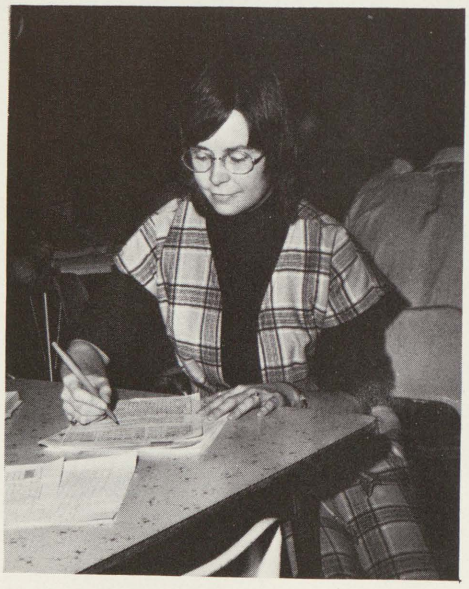
Business Courses Prepare for Jobs

Learning business terms . . . transcribing shorthand notes . . discovering the correct way to answer the telephone . . . typing mailable letters . . . finding how to place long distance calls . . . keeping record of stock . . . taking inventory . . . . These were just a few examples of what every day was filled with in the business classes at Reese High School. Not only did the enrolled student participate in the different every-day duties of the business world, but they also learned such activities as the proper organization and administration of offices.

Many classes were offered this year such as typing, shorthand, and clerical block. In addition, a new class taught by Miss Hardy was added—retailing. At first an elective for co-op students, this course was expanded to include many other interested people.

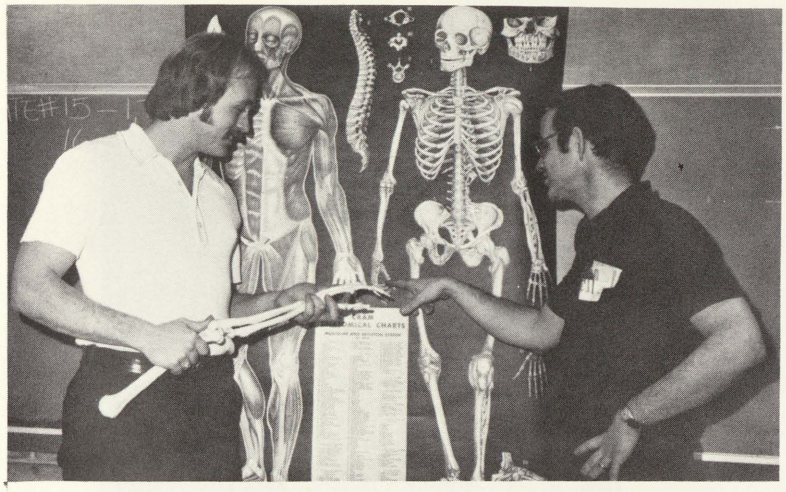


Mrs. Rehman and Miss Freriks help each other on the different tests in the business classes.

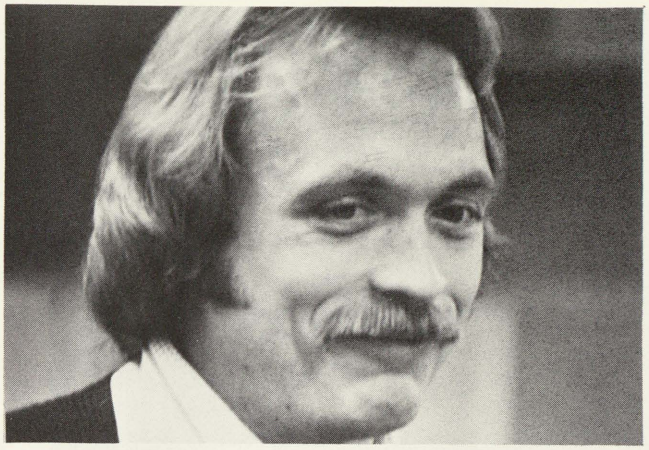


Miss Hardy checks over a retailing test.

"Faculty, faculty, don't be shy . . . . OH, FORGET IT!"



Mr. Davis and Mr. VanParis discuss the structure of the human skeletal system.



Mr. Davis smiles when asked a tough question by a student.

Teachers, like the students, can't wait to get out of school, too!

Students Learn By Observation

In general, science covers a broad field of human knowledge and observation, and the science department at Reese High School had much to offer the student who selected these classes this year because the facilities were equipped to meet these demands. In such classes as biology and advanced biology the students actually witnessed and performed the dissection of worms, frogs, and even full grown cats. Other classes offered were chemistry, the study of matter, and physics, the study of matter and energy. These different classes and well-trained teachers made the "job" of learning fun and at the same time interesting.

Mrs. Herlache and Miss McLellen perform a difficult experiment for the students. (Will they blow up the school?)

Vocational Arts 'Build' Needs

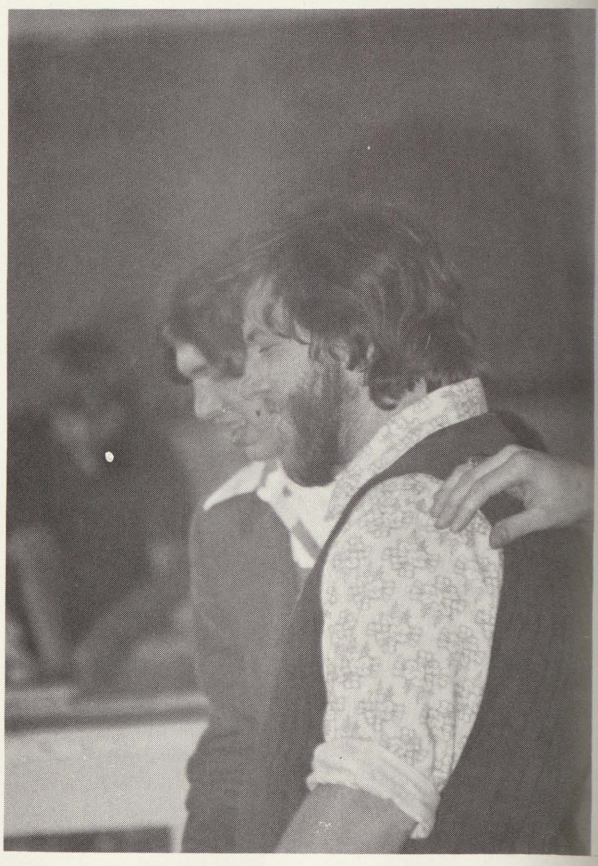
Knowledge, skill and training make up a vocational class. Training in the different areas, such as agriculture, car repairs, carpentry, and homemaking prepare a student for the future.

With the help of capable instructors, simple techniques such such as reading a recipe, changing a tire, rotating crops, or building a birdhouse are learned by the student.

These teachers cannot by only "instructors" but most be proficient and capable craftsmen themselves.

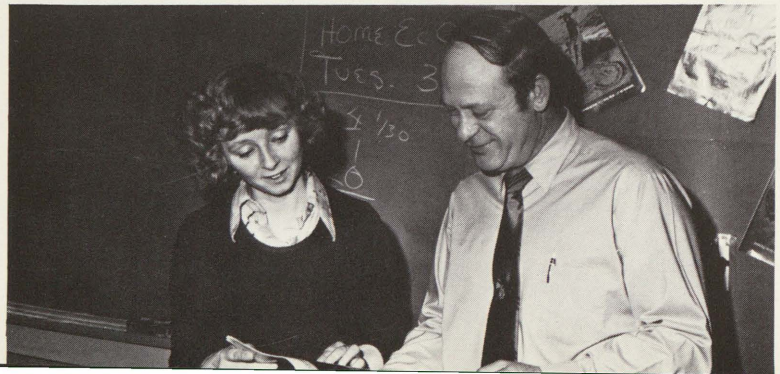
The students in these areas participated in many outside activities this year. FFA officers attended leadership camps; all "Ag" students attended "Farmer's Week" at the M.S.U. campus, and eleven FFA members attended the State Convention.

Auto mechanics takes on car repairs for people of the community. Home Economics students prepared many meals for TAMUN in the fall. The shop classes made model homes to scale which included building, wiring, and finishing work.



Mr. Moore looks over some of Ed Dietzel's work while another student desires his assistance.

Miss Landskroener describes her favorite recipe with Mr. French.

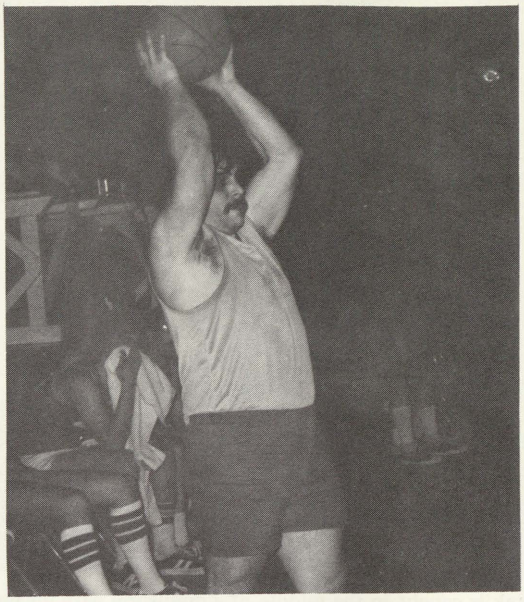


Phys. Ed. Gives Change of Pace

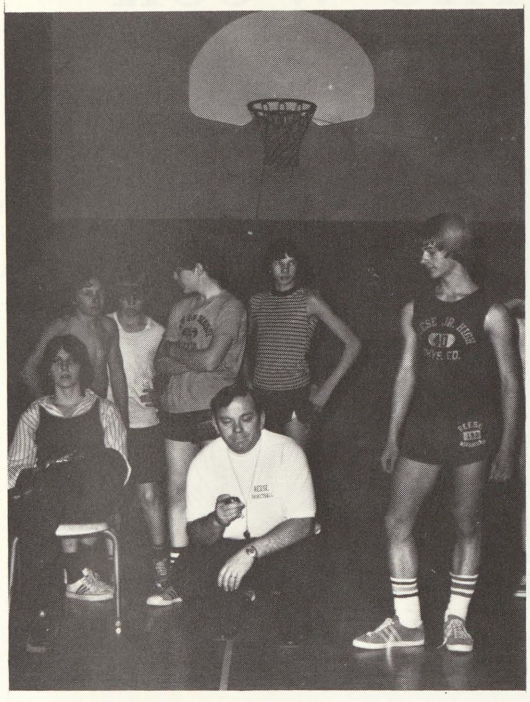
The strengthening of the body is as important as the strengthening of the mind. If the individual is not physically strong, he will never be able to use the education he has worked so hard to obtain.

The Physical Education department activities are designed to improve posture, strengthen physical and general fitness, and produce fun and recreation.

Physical Education serves as a change from the regular academic classes. Miss Call and Mr. Bird plan activities to give each student the best opportunity to make himself a well-rounded individual.



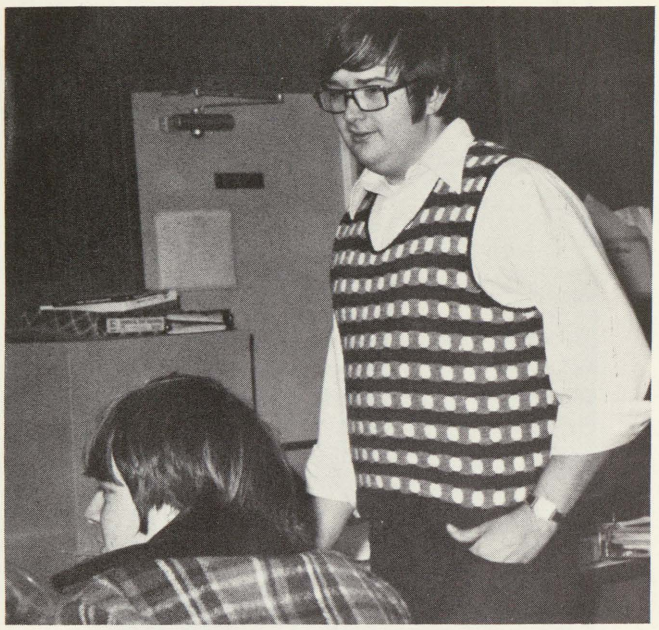
Mr. MacKenzie, are you trying to be Atlas?



Mr. Bird, with stopwatch in hand, times the races of the freshmen physical education class.

With this friendly smile, Miss Call should be able to conquer any problems that might arise in the classroom.

Many teachers involved in the sports program attend the Fall Sports Banquet.



Mr. Matuzak is caught in the middle of a discussion with his junior English class.

Scabbies, Mrs. Titus?

Nine-Week Courses Added

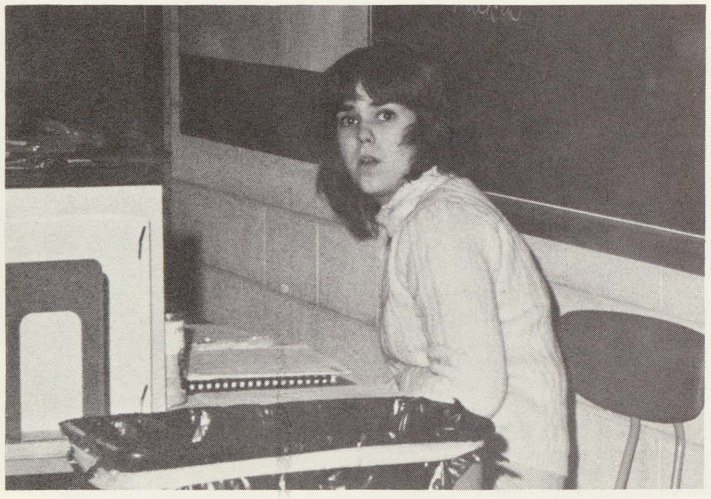
The English Department is the first department at Reese High School to organize its course offerings into nine-week units.

Requiring three years of study to be graduated and many alternate and advanced courses, the members of this department have worked hard to improve and up-date their classes.

Freshmen study basic grammar skills. Sophomores receive a background in basic writing skills, novels, short story, and career education.

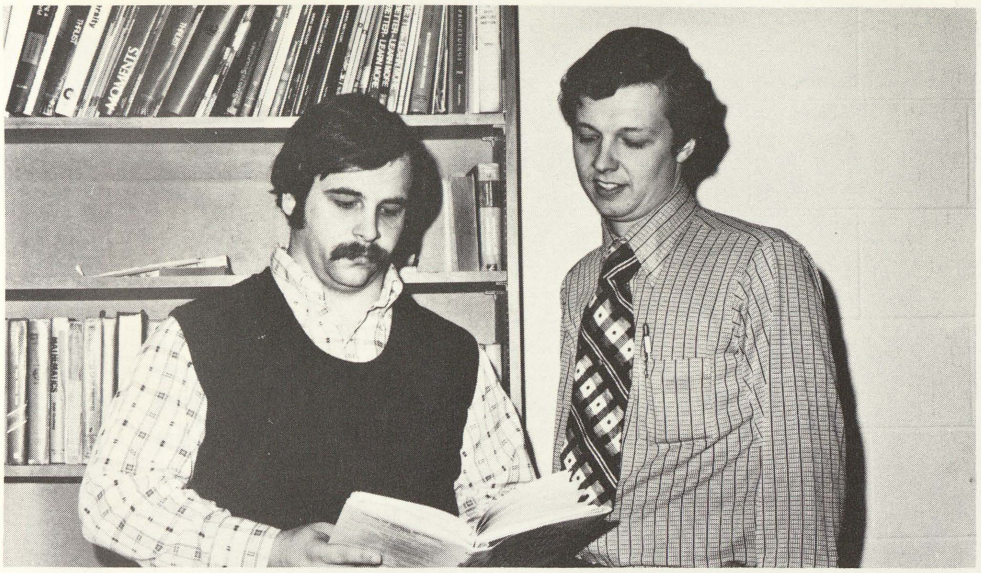
Juniors study American Literature, Non-fiction, and learn to write a thorough research paper. Seniors can opt English IV which includes British Literature, college novels, and advanced writing techniques.

A student who wishes to acquire a thorough background in language and literature can find success at Reese High School.



Caught in the act, Mrs. Montei?

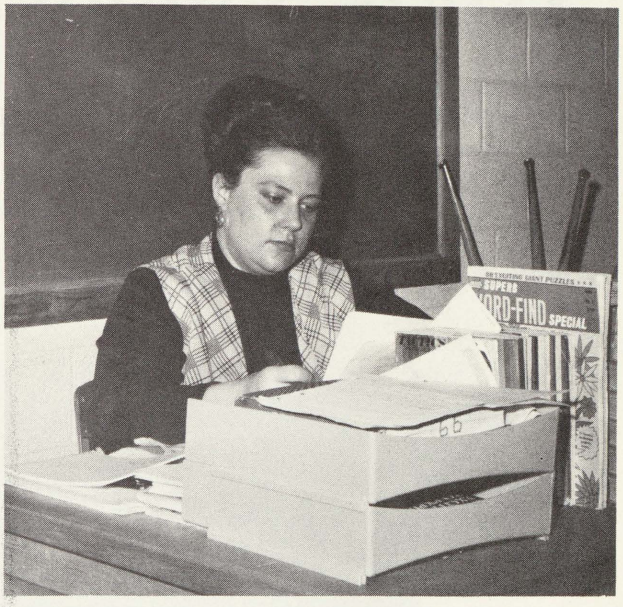
The women teachers didn't know what they were getting themselves into at this pep assembly.



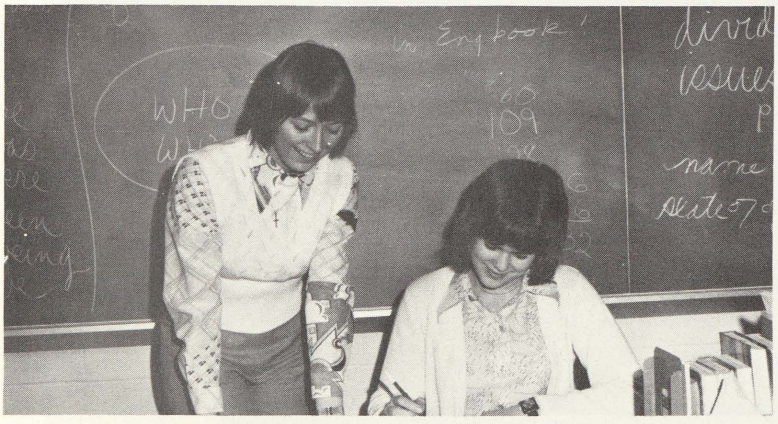
Mr. MacKenzie and Mr. Terbrack do a little extra research to see if the student could have been right with his argument.

Mrs. Rummel is caught doing something other than teaching English!

Teachers take an interest in the students outside of the classroom by giving a helping hand to outside activities.



Mrs. Marr concentrates on getting some of those tests corrected by the end of the day.



Mrs. Titus and Mrs. Montei take a minute out of their teaching day for a bit of laughter.

High School Becomes A Reality

Groundbreaking for the new school took place in the fall of 1974. It is located in the woods just north of the new Village Park. Construction of the new school is estimated to be finished in March of 1976.

The school is slightly smaller in size than the elementary and high schools combined. It has a student capacity of 750 but can be expanded to hold 1200 students.

The school has been divided into two sections. The front half will house the academic classes with the library as the heart of the section. The back half will contain the vocational, physical education, and activity classes. Offices of the administration are located at the front of the building.

In the future, if needed, a pool can be added behind the gymnasium. The new athletic field will be south of the school.

Construction of the new school got underway just before the snow fell.

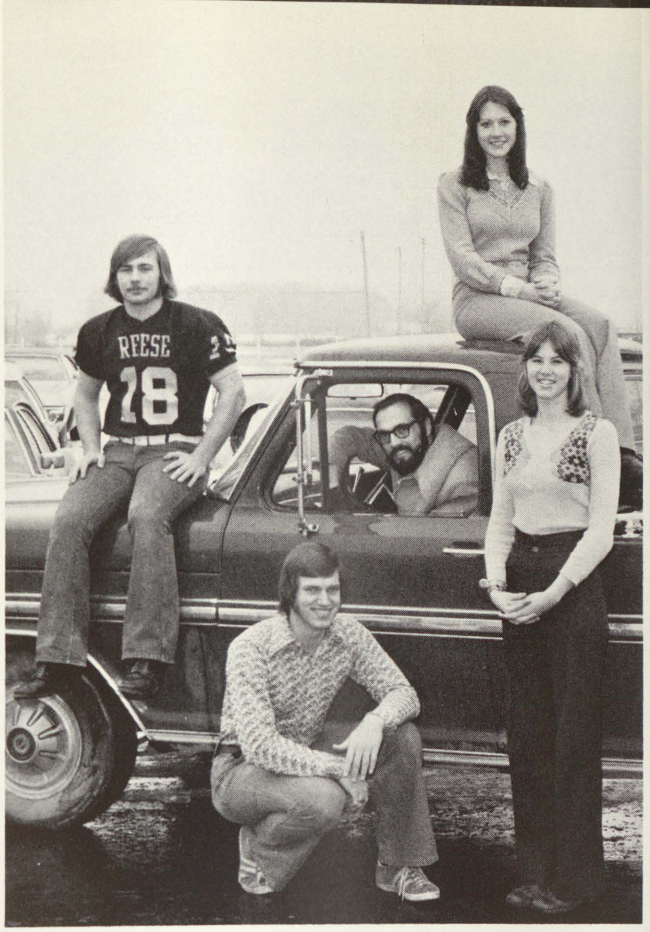
Council Acquires New Pop Machine

Undertaking several important projects this year, the 1974-75 Student Council members led the way in promoting school pride and better relations with the community. Besides such annual events as Homecoming and Spirit Week, the student body representatives sponsored a Muscular Dystrophy drive, student exchange days with Big Thumb conference schools, and professional assemblies. They also acquired enough money to purchase the long-awaited pop machine for the school cafeteria.

In addition to these various activities, the student council held many heated debates on school rules, destruction of school property, and student behavior. Answers did not come easily, but at least three representatives of our student body took a constructive step in solving the problems that faced us all this year.



This year's Student Council officers were John Krick–president, Jim Dohrmann–vice-president, Beth Cooper–secretary, and Michele Trudeau–treasurer. Mr.Gugino was Student Council advisor.

Student Council members for the 1974-1975 school year are M. Trombley, B. Dunn, J. Krick, J. Dohrmann, Mr. Gugino–advisor, L. Buchinger, J. Dohrmann, B. Cooper, K. Curtis, D. Histed, K. Beyerlein, S. N.H.S. Inducts 19 Members

This year at the February 13 induction ceremony and banquet, the Reese Chapter of the National Honor Society welcomed nineteen new inductees into its membership. Selected by the faculty, these students were felt to typify the ideals of scholarship, leadership, citizenship, and character. In addition, Mr. Erhart Kern, a long-time school employee, was chosen as the chapter's honorary member.

Besides evaluating report cards, assisting with scheduling, ushering at important senior functions, and sponsoring a refreshment stand for a special group concert, the N.H.S. once again took an annual club trip. Spending the whole day at Rifle River canoeing and relaxing, the members enjoyed well-earned reward for all their hard work accomplished throughout their school career.

Model U.N. Hosts Tamun '74

In its fourth year of existence, the Reese Model United Nations organization actively participated in various UN sessions, and workshops. Headed by Mrs. Ann Pitts, the thirty member group financed their operations by sponsoring a Rock-a-thon, and selling flowers, candy bars, and bumper stickers.

As an experimental project, the Model UN hosted TAMUN '75, a session for Thumb Area schools. About fifteen schools participated in the inaugural meetings which dealt with such problems as terrorism, women's rights, and the Middle East. As an added attraction, Susan Muscari, the Secretary General, introduced guest speaker Dr. David Hepburn, UN ambassador to the Bahamas, to the students present at the three-day November session.

March 5-9, Reese once again participated in the Great Lakes Invitational Model UN. Representing four different nations, the students became involved in speech writing, negotiating and compromising. Tempers wore thin when long heated debates lasted until the early hours of the morning, but each student remained fairly good-natured and open to any discussion despite the lack of sleep—the mark of any good diplomat.

FFA Prepares Future Farmers

With the loss of their Ag. Farm for the new school, the Ag. members missed the experience of participating together in farm work. However, their advisor, Mr. French, made their other work enjoyable, he provided other activities as participation in Farmers Week at M.S.U., Grapefruits and Oranges, work at the annual Crop Drive, care of baby pheasants, field trips, and participation in leadership camp.

A new addition to the F.F.A. this year was a student teacher. Fulfilling his teaching hours at Reese, Mr. Neil Hansen, taught all 5 hrs. of the Ag. classes, spoke at banquets, handed out awards and took the F.F.A. members on field trips.

The F.F.A. students learned by doing so hopefully they can use their experience and knowledge to become better achievers in the world for tomorrow.

Das Deutsch Klub Has Eventful Year

This year's German Club did more than the club usually does. Besides their usual dues for their money used, they had a cookie sale which gave them a nice profit. They went to one hockey game. The annual Christmas party was held this year at Zehnder's. To raise more money, some of the members made gingerbread houses and sold them. At the end of the year, a picnic was held which was enjoyed by all.

Exchange Student, Juniors Honored

The object of Boy's and Girl's State is to give students across the state of Michigan a working knowledge of government, allowing them to gain experience through actual participation and taking action if an emergency should arise in a community.

Boy's and Girl's State are sponsored by the American Legion and the American Legion Auxiliary respectively. The representatives attended during the summer between their junior and senior year.

The major convention at Olivet for nomination of candidates was filled with speeches, debates, demonstrations, tons of confetti, noise, and chanting. Meetings were held in the mornings and afternoons, with well known speakers as highlights of the day.

This past year has been one of the best times of my life, and I only wish it could have continued for a longer time.

I want to thank everybody for being SO nice and friendly and making me a part of the school. I know that some of my fondest memories from my stay here in the United States will be those of RHS: football andbasketball games, lunch hours, walking the halls, and, of course, all my different classes.

Yes, RHS and all the friends I made here will always have a certain place in my heart, and I hope you'll treat new foreign exchange students the same way as you treated me.

Once again "thank you" and I'll miss you all.

Love, Hanne Svensson

The Home Ec. Club had a typical year with a Christmas party in the home ec. room in December. Joining the FFA, they had a picnic in spring. They enjoyed an activity of bowling and every second Tuesday they had a meeting.

The Forensics Club had meetings every Monday. They went to an invitational at Garber High School. In the districts, held at Caro High School, David Bolzman and Joe Schian made regionals in their divisions and Debbie Diedrich was an alternate in hers. This was the first Forensics Club in many years so there were only seven people but they all worked very hard.

The Debate Team had an unusual year. After traveling to different schools, the affirmative teams record was 1-11 and the negative's record was 2-10.

Students Assist Teachers with Work

Flooded with an endless stream of untyped assignment sheets and uncorrected tests, teachers turned to the student body and cried, "Help!" Fortunately for the instructors over fifty able workers answered the call. Although these aides received little compensation for assisting with the tedious "dirty" work of teaching, they all had the satisfaction of learning one important lesson: teachers have to work as hard as the students!

Students Aid R.H.S.

Many students provided valuable "behind-the-scenes" work for our school this year. Besides typing, running errands, and delivering messages, these workers used their own special talents to perform numerous odd jobs. Whether an office, library, counselor, or elementary aide, each student assistant pitched in to make the work of the administration a little easier and to cut the cost of running a rapidly growing school system. As future taxpayers ourselves, we lead the way in thanking these people for their efforts.

As Seasons Turn . . .

So did the performances of the band at Reese High School. As football season began the band also began their marching season. To start off the marching season, the band had 7:00 morning practices because of so many conflicts. This was a very good move as the '74-'75 marching band was the best that has ever turned out of Reese High, not only was the band a great crowd pleaser but also a large crowd attracter. Besides the yearly marching band performances the band performed at Caros' "Parade of Bands" and a marching performance at Dansville, Michigan and M.S.U. The last home game was performed on Friday, November 1st where the Seniors were recognized. The Seniors played "Mickey Mouse" and added a few words since this was their last marching performance. All through marching season the J.V. band also performed at the games. This band has improved a great deal since last year, as proven by their performances.

As every year the J.V. and Varsity Bands performed a Winter Concert in which they played their regular songs prepared and a few of the songs they played for marching season, with a small marching performance! This season began the preparing of three pieces of music for District and State Band Competition, for the Varsity Band. Also during all this excitement solo and ensemble took place in which many of our students were able to participate at the state level and received I ratings. Soon District Competition was over and the band received straight I's across the board, this now meant they could participate at state level. So more practice and long hours brought the band to performance time, well due to circumstances beyond anyones' control the band received a II. This performance ended all competition for the resting year.

Each year at the Spring Concert the Seniors are rewarded Senior trophies, but this year the band, as a whole awarded Mr. Cheney with a beautiful watch for it was his last year here. Also the Seniors presented a short song, written by Linette Showerman, entitled "An Ode to Cheney." This event was very beautiful and touching and ended the band season with a few tears; for the season is ended, the Seniors are leaving, and Mr. Cheney, too.

Morning practices were a real pain, right Luke? . . . . . but, ooh what a performance!

Modern Dance Sponsors Concert

After long hours of practice, the Modern Dance Class, under the supervision of Sue Wagner, presented an April concert, featuring ethnic dance steps and era music. Special performances included a solo by Jan Trombley, a comedy skit to "The Entertainer," the 40's jitterbug, and interpretive dances. Other numbers included the cha cha, the 20's charleston, a 50's skit, and mass group dances. Money collected the two nights of the concert went for costumes and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

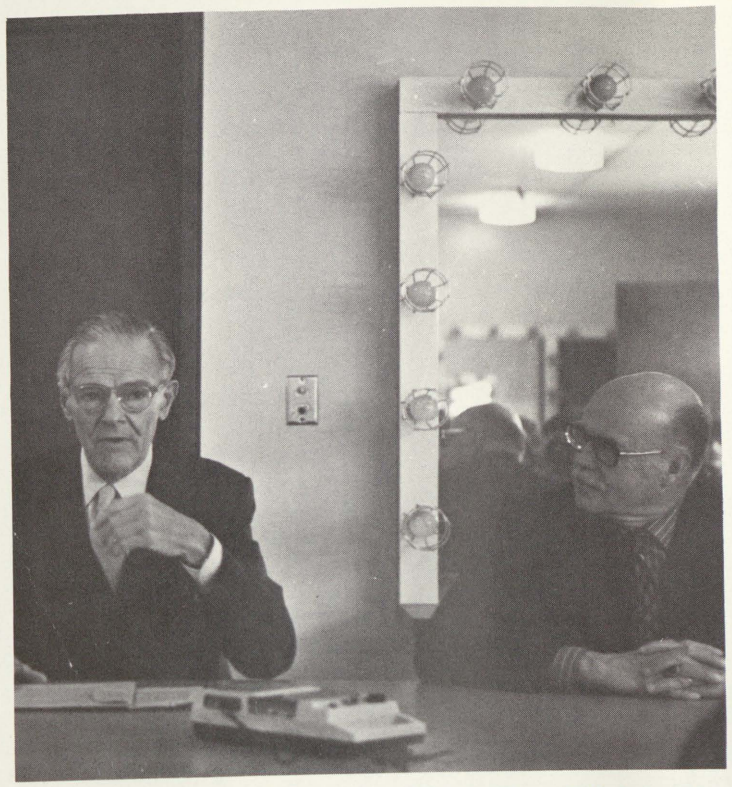
Journalism Staff Buys Mimeograph

Better technical quality characterized this year's "Rocket Review," the school's weekly newspaper. Under the direction of Mr. Matuzak, the journalism staff acquired a new mimeograph machine that printed stencils with improved clarity and visual impact. The machine, purchased with money raised through Christmas decoration, keychain, and spirit badge sales, will be a chief staff asset for years to come.

The staff also added a new dimension to its news coverage—the celebrity feature story. Participating in the Saginaw Town Hall project, certain students interviewed such people as Rex Reed and Jolie Gabor for special feature articles. Quite successful this first year, the journalism reporters plan to continue this project next season.



Above: The journalism staff participated in the Town Hall Series this year and students were able to sit in on interviews of famous people like Henry Cabot Lodge as they were interviewed by Saginaw News Art Editor James Henderson. Co-op Program Offers Experience

This year over forty seniors took advantage of the co-op and work experience programs offered by the vocational department. Working at local establishments, family farms, or out-of-town businesses, these students received the training and practical experience needed to enter a future career. Of course, there was always that paycheck . . . , right?!

Special credit goes to Miss Hardy who coordinated the program and supervised the students' progress.

Students Take to Role-Playing

In its second year of existence, the fifteen-member Drama Club participated in many varied events this season. In addition to putting on a Christmas play for the elementary school, the members also went to CMU in March to see "A Funny Thing Happened on the Way to the Forum."

May 21 and 22 marked "lights, camera, action!" for the school play cast. The three one-act plays "Bathroom Door," "Trysting Place," and "Still Alarm" were produced within a month and enjoyed by the large audience that came for an evening of entertainment.

"Precious and Few Are the Moments"

This year's prom, sponsored by the junior class, was held May 17, at the Candlelight Inn in Bridgeport. Entertained by readings of the class prophecy and will, an amazing number of seniors, faculty, and parents also enjoyed an evening of music and dancing provided by Larry's Group.

Varsity Gridders Show Strength

Hard work and determination paid off for this year's Varsity Football team. They compiled a very respectable 6-3 record which earned them a tie for second place in the Western division of the Big Thumb Conference. This was done despite the loss of several key players due to injuries. This year's team never gave up as they thrilled the Reese fans with many come-from-behind victories. This team surprised many people and they deserve much credit.

J.V. Rockets Gain Skill, Experience

The Junior Rockets advanced this season into confusion and the unexpected. Playing against the odds and the clock, they were distinguished in battle. As the injuries came, so did the effort and skill, therefore ranking them in the all-time history of the Maroon and Gold.

Girls Show Another Winning Season

In a host of champions, long will be remembered the Rockettes of Reese and their basketball tradition. While many will speak of their titles, their names and accomplishments will long endure. And in moments of savoring each achievement, recollection will ring tribute. To those who played, coached memories of many dreams fulfilled will guide them through the future, and a dream lost in defeat will deliver courage. From the whole of the community, we stand proud of them.

J.V. Dribblers Plan For the Future

The J.V. Dribbler's stood proud along with the varsity in their share of victories. Led by the dribble, pass, bounce, shoot, jump, rebound technique, the girls forged ahead toward the future. Although their record numbered as many defeats as victories, they look to the day when they will carry the proud and prestigious "R" of the varsity.

Coach Sage discusses his strategy with the team.

JV Squad Displays Much Potential

The Reese jv basketball team had a successful year this season as they ended up with an overall record of 13-7. There were times when they appeared to be unbeatable. The jv's had compiled a record of 10-3 when Scott Ross was moved up to the varsity team. These Players showed good potential and should produce a fine varsity team.

Frosh Cagers Show Teamwork, Depth

Because of the large number of freshmen interested in playing basketball this year, two teams had to be formed. Splitting these players up did not seem to weaken the teams, however, as each of the teams had a winning season. The A team had a superb 13-4 record as the B team ended up with an 8-3 record. These freshmen played good basketball and should help Reese win many basketball games in the future.

Varsity Cagers Have Mediocre Season

The Reese varsity basketball team began the season with gh hopes, but they had to settle for a 9-11 overall record and 8 league record. The team suffered a severe loss when Bruce unn became injured in the second half of the season and had to out the rest of the year. Reese also had the disadvantage of aying in the Western Division which was clearly superior to the stern Division.

The team centered around the play of the five seniors on e team with strong help coming from the junior ballplayers d also a sophomore. The squad displayed poise and great de- rmination throughout the season which is shown by the num- r of close games which were won by Reese.

Intramural Combines Fun, Competition

Sometimes getting up early in the morning isn't all bad, if you're doing what you like to do. For these guys fun is playing basketball. These teams are made up of guys who aren't on the regular basketball teams.

This year each of six teams had a ten-game schedule with games starting at 7 a.m., and two games being played each morning.

At the end of the season Tom DuBay's team came out on top with an overall record of 8 wins and two losses.

Keep on Truckin', Girls

Training began when the temperatures were low, but the spirit was high. And although the team was young, with no seniors participating, the girls did well for their first season as a varsity sport.

They competed in eight meets and junior Lori Weber made it to the State finals and placed Seventh in the two-mile run.

By the end of the season, some drastic improvements had been made. They had a 3-3-1 record accumulated and had finished fourth.

"Coaching these girls has been an honor", said Ms. Call, "they are conscientious and determined. Next year they will be trying to "smoke out" their opponents."

Varsity Harriers Show Improvement

The 1975 track team had a very successful season this year. Five school records were either tied or broken, and Reese took third place in the annual conference meet. Honors go to Bruce Dunn and Paul Drake who both made all-state and also to the mile relay team which missed placing at state by one-tenth of a second for the second year in a row.

Tennis, Anyone?

Reese started a tennis team for the first time this year and the response toward it was very good. However, the players had much to learn as they ended with a 1-9 season record. (Each match consisted of four singles matches and three doubles matches.)

Being Reese's initial year in tennis, the players had to learn many of the basic fundamentals of the game. Although their record was poor, everyone on the team had a fun time and also gained valuable experience for future years.

Varsity Baseball Team Second in League

This year's varsity baseball team started off with a spectacular season as they won their first seven league games. However, after several narrow defeats, the Rockets ended up 7-3 in league which put them in a tie for second place. Even though they didn't win the league championship, six of the players received all-conference recognition, a tribute to the good ball and excellent teamwork they displayed all year.

JV Improves Team Record

This year the jv baseball team had a slow start. At the middle season their record was 1-5. Usually when a team has a record like that they "roll over and play dead," but not our team! The squad finally came through and at the end of the season they compiled a 7-5 record. Impressed by their enthusiasm, Coach Bird believes that the sophomores moving up to the varsity level will be great additions to that team.

Girls' Team Lacks Depth

n't as hard to accept when you know you've given your all and ith a losing season.
ew coach and many underclassmen on the team, the girls came y two wins. But with a 2-14 record at the end of the season eed that they had learned what teamwork was and what it together through thick and thin.

Bomber, don't worry; the base won't get away.

Cheerleaders 2nd in State

Once again the varsity cheerleading squad maintained a standard of excellence in their chosen sport. This year their awards included second place at U.S.C.A. camp, third place at the Northwood Institute Clinic, second place and the "Sparkle" Award at Kingston competition, and an unprecedented second place at the State finals. In addition, captain Janice Dohrmann won first place in individual competition at U.S.C.A. camp.

The varsity cheerleaders also brightened up the school year with sales, Comehoming Week, and pep assemblies. At these rallies they performed skits such as "Teen Angel", a pompon routine to "Diamond Girl", and several new cheers, mounts, and chants.

The cheerleaders watch the band perform at a pep rally.

Debbie Keys, are you really the "Leader of the Pack"?

A difficult maneuver is successfully completed by the squad.

JV Squad 1st In Competition

This year the junior varsity cheerleading squad added another award to their long list of achievements: a first at Class C-D competition in Kingston. In addition, the girls assisted the varsity cheerleaders with chants and presented such pep assembly skits as "The Rocket Garage" and "Our School Ain't Got No Pep." Most importantly, the JV cheerleaders bolstered the spirit of their teams during football and basketball seasons. They were coached by Ms. McLellan.

Captain Sue Schluckbier leads a chant.

Freshman Girls Promote Spirit

Doing their part to instill a sense of pride in the student body, this year's freshman cheerleaders practiced long hours to perfect cheers and difficult mounts. They also sponsored an end-of-the-season party for the freshman basketball team and participated in such fund-raising activities as T-shirt sales and dances. Unfortunately, injuries and a short season kept them from realizing their full potential, but we trust next year will be more kind to them.

The girls prepare for a difficult mount.

The freshman cheerleaders were Patty Bishop, Roxanne Kilbourn, Paula Westoby Kathie Eymer, Terri Dunn, Sue Bringold, Kristie Eymer, and Janet Taylor. Right: Roxanne Kilbourn and Kristie Eymer participate in a pep assembly cheer.

"Our team is super-great!" cry these cheerleaders.

Underclassmen

Freshmen Learn by Experience

Although young, inexperienced, and a little unsure of themselves, the freshman class devoted much of their time to school events. Among the activities they participated in were fund-raising projects, freshman sports, assemblies, and the Christmas decoration contest for which they won first place. They also created impressive Homecoming and Comehoming floats for the enjoyments of all the classes.

Next year the Class of '78 will be an experienced group of sophomores ready to tease still another group of incoming freshmen, but the times they shared as scared newcomers themselves will always be remembered.

Sophomores Have Active Year

The sophomore class displayed exceptional initiative and drive during the 1974-75 school year. A list of their accomplishments and projects included the annual Talent Show, a highly successful magazine sale, the newly conceived Euchre Tournament, and a first in the Comehoming float contest, their second in a row. They also played an important role in such groups as the J.V. sports teams, Model U.N., and F.F.A.

As shown by their numerous past efforts and many talents, the Class of '77 is definitely headed toward the goal of success. We wish them luck in the coming years.

Enthusiasm, excitement, and effervescence characterized the Class of '76 this year. Putting these qualities to work on the annual Junior-Senior Prom, they created a wonderful night that will never be forgotten by any of the people who attended the extravaganza.

Although the prom was their major project, the juniors were involved in many other activities such as band, sports and Model U.N. In addition, over ten class members were elected to the National Honor Society.

As the juniors enter their senior year, they can be proud to know they really possess the "Spirit of '76."

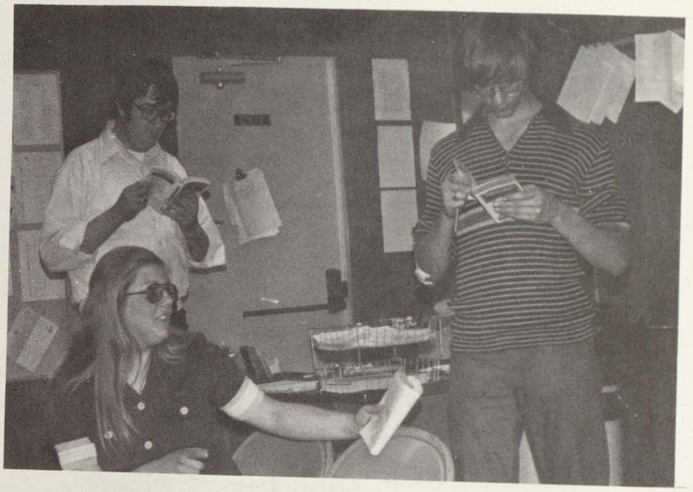
Seniors Set Goals for Underclassmen

Walking out the doors of R.H.S. the Seniors left many things for them to be remembered by. Being the only class to win the Spirit Award during Homecoming for four years they have set high goals for the other classes to follow. They have always been leaders to look up to in all things attempted by them. At the Awards Banquet the Senior determination and drive was shown when announced that the Senior Class of '75 was scholastically highest in the history of Reese High. Endowed with many talents the Seniors will make a great contribution to the world of tomorrow.



The senior spirit float was an added attraction to Homecoming night. Below: Class officers were Mike Avery, president; Lynne Palmreuter, vice president; Renee Bremer, treasurer; and Debbie Shinaver, secretary.

Senior Women Receive Honors

Of all the worthy girls in our Senior Class, I feel extremely honored to have had the D.A.R. Award bestowed upon me, Gayle Sahr.

This award is presented on the qualities of dependability, service, leadership, and patriotism, and I feel very privileged that the faculty recognizes me as displaying these qualities. I only hope I can live up to their expectations.

Being an Elk Scholarship recipient was much more than just getting that NEEDED money to further my education. It was also:

(1) finding out that people would write good references about my character;

(2) going on an exciting trip to Marquette to pick up my scholarship;

(3) giving a speech in front of all the Elks at Marquette to thank them for their help and interest in my education; and

(4) finding out how proud my parents were of my accomplishments.

These things and many more made scholarship winning an exciting adventure in learning once again how "super" people really are.

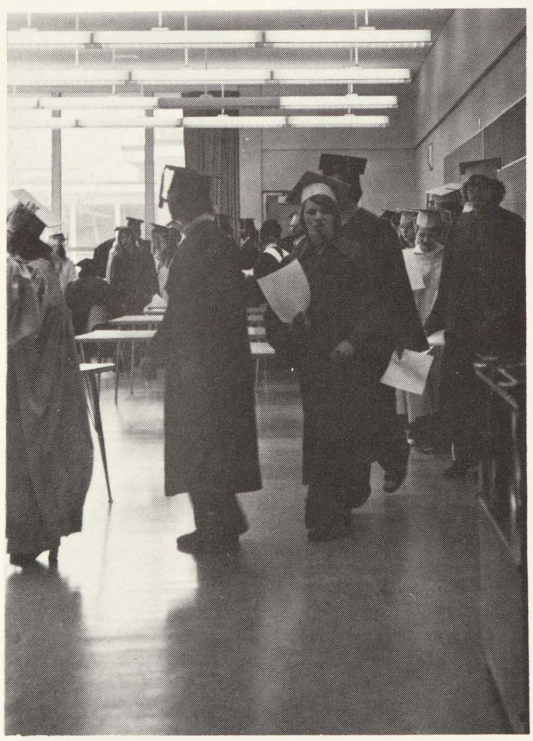
Swingout, Trip Bring Lasting Memories

The seniors line up for swingout.

The last assembly of the year, swingout, is an event to be remembered by all, especially seniors. Class wills and prophecies were read by the class officers, much to the embarrassment of all. Miss Dziachan and Mrs. Smith then read off the mock awards, and the proud winners marched up to receive their certificates. Closing the assembly, was a farewell speech from Mr. Van Dyke.

Another thing that the Seniors had a chance to do was to take the annual senior class trip. 66 excited Seniors left at 5:30, June 4, for Cedar Point. Rides and games were enjoyed by all who went. Tired, but happy seniors returned from a day that will be long remembered.

Once in awhile, life can be funny.



"Beat it, kids. Can't you see we're busy?"

"All right! We're finally done!"

Graduation Closes Out Senior Year

"Sometimes,
Not often enough,
We reflect upon the good things.
And those thoughts always center around those we love.
And I think about those people
Who mean so much to me
And for so many years have made me
so very happy,
And I count the times I have forgotten
to say,
Thank you,
And just how much I love them."
—The Carpenters—

We, the class of '75, thank you, dear friends, for being there when we needed you.

We thank you, teachers, for trying to instill us with life's knowledge.

We thank you, parents, for standing behind us and doing your best to make us responsible citizens.

And we thank you, Reese High School, for four of the most wonderful years of our lives.

Pastor Spiekerman delivers the baccalaureate address.
